STOCK MARKET CRIME
by Mr. Prabhakar Kaza

WHATSAPP Archives

Dear Fellow Members,

I am pleased to present the 1st newsletter of ICAI UK Chapter on behalf of the ICAI UK chapter committee and the volunteers/fellow members who have actively contributed to this newsletter. The newsletter includes the glimpse of past events, activities, and achievements together with our plans for the coming months.

The newsletter is especially important as it was supported by our own members who volunteered to support the chapter in different activities. We are very happy that our members have taken keen interest in chapter affairs, and we are sure that we can get each one of you to take active interest in affairs of the chapter and promote the platform our alma mater has provided to bring all of us together in this foreign land.

The past 18 months of COVID lockdowns have taught us many new things in life and we are sure that we all are eager to go back to our new normal.

In this newsletter we have focussed on how to be smart auditor, stock market crime, hot topics of discussion on our UKCA WhatsApp group in past few months and introduction with 2 of our members.

We would be very happy to receive your feedback for continuous improvement in our newsletter and other activities.

We had decided to not take annual fee for 2021 from the members who had paid annual fee in 2020. We have now decided that all members who have paid fee in 2020 or 2021 will be waived to pay the fee for 2022.

We have also decided to reduce the renewal fee for the year 2023 to £50. The new members fee will be £75 starting 2023. Membership not renewed by Jan 31 will lapse and will be treated as new members.

We are planning to have a mega event to meet all of you with family in the 1st half of January.

Enjoy quality time with friends and family and enjoy festivities.

Regards,

CA Ajay Kumar, Chairperson

UK CHAPTER EVENTS

Due to pandemic, over the last 18 months we couldn't organise face to face events but the Chapter made best efforts to keep connected through online events covering diverse interests from members. Some of the big hits in 2021 were:

A session on Dark web

The session was held as an online event on 06 July 2021 in which Francis West, a Global Security Specialist and renowned speaker focussed on protection measures against the dangers of Dark Web from an individual as well as business perspective.

How to get best out of savings & investments

An online session on the above topic was held on 26th Feb 2021 where Amit Mittal, an independent financial planning expert gave tips to members on how to get best out of their savings. The session was well liked by all attendees and Chapter is conscious for a demand for second session on the same.

Online Networking over Real Kombucha.

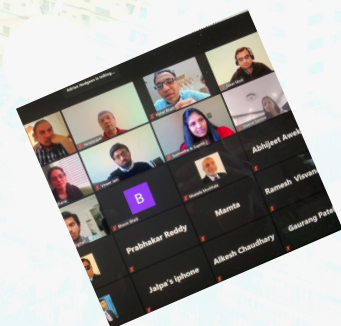

On 16, April 2021, ICAI UK chapter hosted a live pairing of Real Kombucha with awarding winning cows cheese & a tin of Rose & Harrissa nuts which was sent as a hamper to all active members of the chapter

F2F Networking social @ London Bridge

On 22 October 2021, ICAI UK chapter facilitated the first post covid interaction of the CA fraternity at a Thames riverside restaurant of London Bridge.

Watch out for Grand family networking event in January

NEWS AND HEADLINES

The labour shortages and supply disruptions

British businesses are experiencing labour & supply shortages that is likely to persist with no meaningful easing until late 2022 or 2023, according to CFOs of the UK's largest companies. CFOs are particularly concerned about labour supply, with three-quarters reporting that their businesses have experienced some, significant or severe recruitment difficulties in the 3 months preceding the survey. They expect only limited improvement in the situation in a year's time.

Climate change

Amid growing short-term threats, CFOs rate climate change as one of the main risks facing their business now, almost on par with labour shortages, the pandemic and inflation, which top the risk list. Strikingly, three current challenges - supply chain disruptions, the risk of higher interest rates and Brexit - rank below climate on the list of threats.

ICAI News

ICAI Regional & Central Council elections will be held on 3rd and 4th Dec 2021. Overseas members are eligible to vote and you should have already submitted postal voting request form to the Institute (deadline of submission was 1/10/2021).

If you would like to change your voting booth within India (deadline is 11/11/2021), follow the link here: <https://changebooth.icai.org>

MEMBERS' CORNER

CA Sushmita Pulikonda

CA Sushmita is one of the newest additions to our UK Chapter.

She is a chartered accountant since 2019 and currently working with one of the leading Chartered Accountancy practices in Cheltenham.

Originally from Andhra Pradesh, she started her accounting career from Chennai in India. After many gruelling months of job search, Sushmita is happy to have found a job opportunity at one of the top 25 accounting firms.

She recommends new chartered accountants to take advantage of the network of friends and professional colleagues available.

Sushmita loves to travel and try different vegetarian cuisines. She also enjoys painting and has recently started painting Madhubani art.

We wish Sushmita success in all her endeavours and making the Indian CA fraternity proud.

Dr Narinder Madan

Originally from the city of Karnal in India, Dr. Madan holds a PhD in securitization and has been supporting the UK Chapter since he moved to UK in 2008.

He is currently a self employed management consultant and is well settled in London with family.

Beginning his long and illustrious career with Planning Commission of Govt. Of India, Dr Madan later moved into financial sector, where his main forte has been raising financial resources for Direct Foreign Investments(DFIs) in India.

He has served on the Boards of several financing and venture capital entities while being a member of high level public sector committees and working groups. His noteworthy assignments include setting-up & operationalisation of IIFC (UK) Ltd (a Government of India enterprise) in London in 2008 and as a Country Head of SME Development Bank in India.

He is an ardent lover of the Bhagwat Gita and loves to spend time trying to understand the real deep meaning of verses contained in the holy book.

Internal Audit is going through a lot of changes recently given the way technology and data have created many opportunities and challenges. This article is for internal audit professionals who are looking to upskill themselves or their teams.

The Auditor of the future is called the "SMART Auditor". They will be all of the below combined:

- Business Auditor
- Technology Auditor
- Data Analyst

Finding The SMART Auditor

A number of activities are needed to drive successful adoption of "Smart Auditor" concept, the key being:

1. Leadership alignment;
2. Base-lining the existing skills in the Audit team.
3. Providing the leadership team with a consolidated view of external training requirements and associated costs;
4. Approval for the training budget and inclusion of this in the individual performance objectives;
5. Tracking the progress against the courses and issuing stakeholder surveys to assess the improvement in audit efficiency & quality;
6. Providing appropriate guidance and support to the audit team members, initiating "train the trainer" programme and celebrating success

A Hybrid auditor seems to be the shape of the auditor of the future. When planning your career in Internal Audit or even reviewing the development of your own team the parameters have broadened.

Creating your own skillset

Ensuring that you and your team have the right skills in place will be an essential part of planning for the future. Creating your own team skills matrix will give you an overview of your team and your own skillset highlighting gaps. This is a crucial step forward in getting and staying ahead of the curve.

CA Chandrra Sekhaar, is a respected senior leader within Internal audit and has 24 years experience in this field. The views expressed above are of the author's.

STOCK MARKET CRIMES

BY
MR. PRABHAKAR KAZA,
CEO, HAMILTON RESERVE BANK, NEVIS

I am sure members are familiar with Harshad Mehta and Ketan Parekh scams in India. History has been filled with major financial crimes involving stock markets. I have made a humble attempt to illustrate a few.

THE POYAL'S CON

Gregory McGregor in the 1820s drew up an imaginary country called Poyals in Central America and sold Sovereign Bonds/Land certificates in London. The con busted when there was a general instability in South America as well as when a few investors ventured a visit to America and returned disillusioned. Quite rightly, Gregory McGregor has been called as "The Founding Father of Securities Fraud".

Insider Trading

Surely all the readers know that it is a financial crime to use personal/non-public material information for stock market transactions. History records that William Duer, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in the times of Alexander Hamilton in 1789 was the first to be caught taking advantage of his access to confidential information in order to speculate on stocks and bonds.

Bogus Company

Barry Minkow produced more than 20,000 phoney documents and sales receipts and through this forgery and theft, he took his company 'ZZZZ Best' to public in 1986 eventually reaching a market capitalization of more than USD 200 million on the Stock market.

Rogue Trader

Nick Leeson, an English derivatives trader in Singapore brought down UK's oldest Merchant Bank---Barings, in 1995, by his fraudulent, unauthorized and speculative "arbitrage" trades. The unauthorised investments, primarily Futures Contracts collapsed the Bank with a Billion Pound loss and the Bank was eventually bought by ING bank for £1.

Cooking the books

Keeping debt off its books and recording fictitious revenues, thanks to some Shell companies, fooling analysts and investors, Enron imploded and brought the phrase "Cook the Books" a household term once again.

Careless Lending

NINJA Loans (No Income No Job and No Assets) were extended to borrowers with little or no attempt by lending banks to verify the applicant's ability to repay and ignoring the normal verification process of evidence of stable income stream or sufficient collateral. These loans were bundled and sold by all high-street Corporate and Merchant bankers, after getting them rated AAA by Credit-Rating agencies as high-yielding bonds, knowing well that they were junk bonds. This led to the Global financial crisis of 2008

Hi Tech crime

Narinder Sarao remotely traded on Chicago Mercantile Index from Hounslow London and every time an order was placed to buy or sell, "High frequency traders"—not all humans but computers running algorithms -- would make their own trades milliseconds before those orders could be executed. Once he had created artificial demand, his bespoke software took advantage of this by placing thousands of orders before quickly cancelling or changing them. He is estimated to have made in all $ 40 million. He pleaded guilty to Electronic fraud and " Spoofing".

Conclusion

In conclusion, financial Criminals are very intelligent players who exploit the weaknesses in the people, procedures and systems. In order not to repeat history we need to have a more comprehensive, assured and demonstrable approach to Financial Crime.

Mr Prabhakar Kaza has also been former CEO of SBI (London)

WhatsApp proved to be one of best friends during Pandemic - the App kept us all well connected. UKCA community shared news and had healthy discussions on many topics such as crypto, how to best transfer money to India, travel guidelines and many more.

We bring some memories back - here is some of what you said

Crypto

China has banned crypto, however the debt holders are all over the world. They will be paid in crypto that can be sold globally or exchanged for anything outside China 06:24

And if China bails Evergrande, they will pay $'s to Elon Musk 06:25

Bitcoins does not come for free. 06:25

So Elon Musk has paid $0.30 to a $ for the debt in bitcoins and gets a full $ in return in few years... 06:26

Money Transfer to India

Hi can anyone please suggest website to transfer £ to Indian bank a/c with low charges? You can DM me. Thanks 07:47

Wise.com. You can check the rates on their home page but may need to open current account. I use it frequently for business payments also. 07:47

Thanks Saket. 07:51

I've recently found that banks are giving good rates and very low/no transfer fees depending on who you bank with so worth also looking at what exchange rate your bank is giving. I transfer with HSBC and their rates are pretty good, fast transfer and fees is only £3. Similar is with NatWest 08:16

HMRC - Tax & Furlough

Hello all : quick question- i have received a letter from HMRC for my Indian interest income of £2200. Does the allowance apply for any exemption. Or do I have pay tax on entire £2200 since TDS already deducted. Any advise. 11:39

the furlough scheme which is due to finish by end of Oct. Can an employee and director be furloughed for the first time in Oct? They haven't been furloughed in past. 18:01

As per HMRC guidelines you can't, see below

Restrictions on who can be furloughed from 1 July 2020

The scheme is now closed to new entrants. This means the scheme is only be available to employers who have previously used the scheme and in respect of employees who have already been furloughed for a period of at least three consecutive weeks ending on or before 30 June. One key exception is that employers may furlough employees for the first time if they are returning from a period of family leave, for example, maternity or shared parental leave, after 10 June. 18:01

Hello all : quick question- i have received a letter from HMRC for my Indian interest income of £2200. Does the allowance apply ... I think there's an allowance of £1000 12:10

On interest income 12:10

KPMG fined £13 M for helping HIG Capital, a private equity firm. It dumped a £100 M pension deficit and bought mattress maker Silentnight.

KPMG, one of the Big Four, helped HIG Capital buy the mattress maker Silent night.

On 4th August, an independent tribunal ordered KPMG to pay £13 M fine, the second largest ever, and £2.75 M plus in costs.

Regulator, Financial Reporting Council (FRC) said KPMG, and its former restructuring partner David Costley-Wood showed outrageous dishonesty and violated the fundamental principles of objectivity and integrity.

HIG Capital bought up Silentnight's debt, saving it did so

Unfortunate. Used to one of the Big Indian firm. I spent 2 years with them for my articleship. 09:14

Notwithstanding good reputation then, sadly, in early 1990s too, short of ban, the firm was reported to be reprimanded by the Regulator for serious lapses in their work (Harshad Mehta Securities Scam). 09:31
